I found a vector editing plugin but it's not free. is that tool? A: I guess you are talking about vectors and not Adobe Illustrator (AI). I would suggest Inkscape as a free vector tool. It is cross platform, so you can use it on Windows, Linux or Mac (although the Mac version is a bit rudimentary). There is a WYSIWYG interface where you can import, modify and export your shapes in a structured way. Just install it with your favorite package manager (Ubuntu) and type in the terminal `sudo apt-get install inkscape` And be happy :) Q: Get the lowest visible page I have a form with a Search field. The page below it has the options for "Show ads on page" and "Show ads on both pages" disabled. I need to detect the bottom of the page, so the user won't be presented with these options when it's at the bottom. I'm trying to use but am running into problems. I've tried with the querystring, like so: `#qstr#` ... But the problem is that it gets the page before it's at the bottom, as that's what I need to use as my starting point. You could use a normal query to get the current top/bottom page and check if it's at the top or bottom:
